Dedication

"Gone But Not Forgotten"

This volume is dedicated to all early settlers of Lawrence County and the surrounding area. Many pioneer families of the Big Sandy Valley contributed to the economic, social, cultural and spiritual life. Many traditions of appalachia life are continued today. This volume is a tribute to their memory.

These were humble beginnings of culture and tradition. Many families of our area can trace their lineage and ancestry to early settlers from many other states and countries. In many ways we have many families with common bonds in the Valley.

A lot of the early settlers were patriots of the Revolutionary War. At the present, around thirty have been identified in the immediate area.

Our research was taken from headstones, courthouses, funeral home records and immediate family information. We present to you the reader, many hours of research and proofing, our findings and results are as the records reflect. However we realize that we may be in error occasionally.

Respectfully,

Mary Ellen Reid

Memories

The Old Masonic Hall, a two story brick, that once stood on the ground where Mr. and Mrs. M.S. Rice and Mrs. C. B. Rice's homes are located, was used as a school building and a place of entertainment as well as a Masonic hall. The Snyder Brothers had a brick yard and planing mill where Wooten's sawmill was also located.

A beautiful cypress tree continues to proudly stand in front of the old home of the late R. T. Burns, later owned by Margaret Stump, this home became known as the Cypress Inn. The tree was planted by Laban T. Moore, congressman from this district and was bought from Washington, D.C. A special act of the legislature was passed for the protection of this tree.

Louisa's first flour mill was located at the foot of Pike Street. In those days the bran and part of the middlings were blown into the river as there was no market for such "stuff", which today is considered valuable.

Nicholas Waldeck operated a tan yard and the first ball diamond in Louisa was on the grounds where Mrs. B. J. Chaffin and Mr. and Mrs. William Keeton lived, it occupied the whole square.

All listings that do not have a last date may not have a last date cut, or may be living, as a lot of people are now making pre-arrangements including a stone erected before their death.

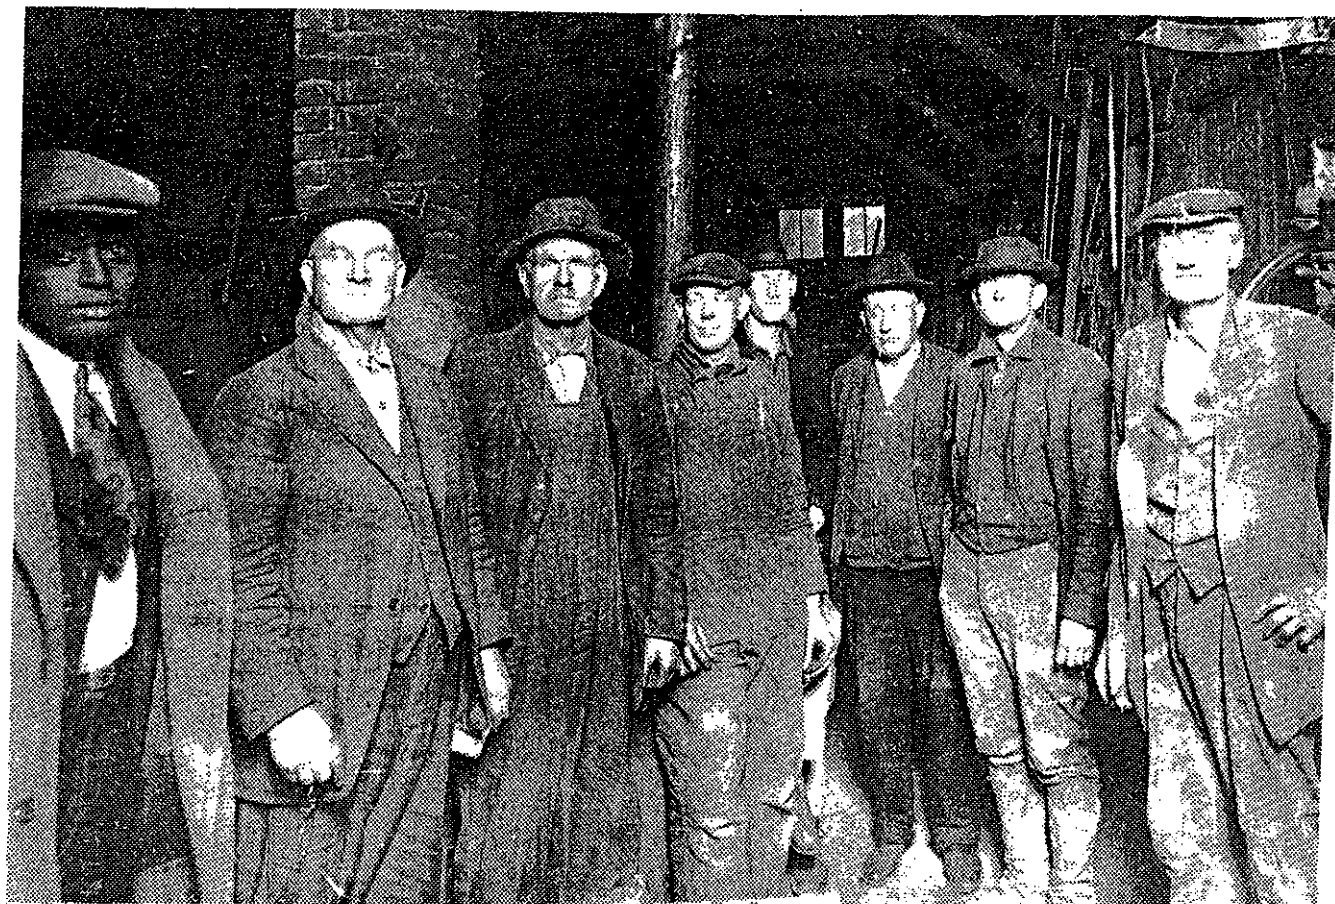

To Our Readers

Please accept this work as a collection of information. The cemetery information was recorded by walking through the cemetery and recording the information that was on the stones including all odd or "misspelled" names. We have added annotations received from relatives, funeral records and from the gravestones. Because we are human, we will make mistakes. We apologize for any mistakes and would appreciate any corrections or additions.

The York Family

The York family in this area started with Jeremiah York born ca. 1730 in Virginia and died ca. 1797 in Mason Co., Ky. His sons were: Jesse; Joshua; Jeremiah Jr.; William; and Ezekial. His son Joshua, was born January 22, 1756 in Westmoreland Co., Pennsylvania, and died after 1836 in Indiana, probably near Franklin Co. He married Nancy McDaniel in 1775 in Pennsylvania.

Joshua, son of Jeremiah, was a veteran of the American Revolutionary War. He enlisted in the Western part of Pennsylvania in August or September 1776 and served 3 years as a Private in the company of Captain Pickett (Pigott) and later under Captain Finley in the 8th Pennsylvania Regiment under Colonel McCoy/McKoy/Mackay and later under Colonel Broadhead. Arthur Borders

Arthur, son of Archbald Borders and Jane Preston Borders, owned a large house on Georges' Creek and took in boarders to help make a living. Boarders were generally raftsmen traveling the river. Arthur caught scarlett fever from one of these men and died when he was only 35 years old.

The Arthur Borders' homeplace no longer stands. It was located just south of Lycans Nursery on Rt. 581 today. There were many rumors/stories about this house being haunted. I can remember visting the house as a young girl with my grandmother. My siblings, cousins, and I were quite fascinated with the cabinet doors that would not stay closed and the dooors where the knobs had been changed many times.

Arthur married Ann K. Tigret (Tygert), a widow, with a young son, Henry, on August 10, 1856 in Lawrence County. It is believed that her maiden name was either Kettlewell or Fox. Ann K. Tigret, was born in Pennsylvania about 1832, living in Hardin County, Ohio in 1850 with the Kettlewell family. It is not known how Arthur and Ann met. After Arthur's death, Ann married Buford Barnett (Burnett). At this writing, it is not known where she is buried.

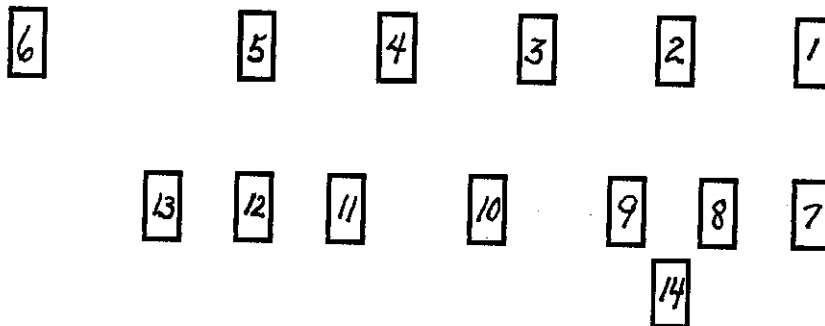

Arthur and Ann were my great-great grandparents and I descended through their daughter Mary Borders Childers.

The McClure Family

The McClure family is of Scottish origin and is one of the septs of the Clan McLeod of Norse origin, whose home is the western coast and isles of Scotland.

Richard Renshaw McClure born in Harford Co., Maryland, July 15, 1760, died in 1832, married Mary Crawford in Botetourt Co., Virginia in 1788. Richard moved to Lawrence County, Kentucky in May 1824 with his entire family except John. His wife and daughter Cassandra had died previously in Virginia. He settled south of Louisa with his son William, who had come to Kentucky three years before, in 1821. Richard died in 1832 and is buried on the old McClure plantation property in a cemetery used jointly by the McClures and Chapman families.

It is said that Richard was in the Revolutionary War. That is being researched at the present. Richard and Mary had 12 children: William, born October 12, 1789, married Lucretia Chapman; Elizabeth, born March 3, 1791; Cassandra, born February 10, 1793; Mordecai, born February 15, 1795; Eleanor, born March 29, 1797 and died same date; Elijah, born April 7, 1799; Alazanah, born September 13, 1801;

William the oldest son of Richard Renshaw McClure and Mary Crawford married Lucretia Chapman, daughter of Revolutionary War Soldier John Chapman (of Virginia) and Sally Abbott. William and Lucretia had 17 children. This family has many connections to the County of Lawrence, Johnson, and Martin. Their children were: Joseph Peck McClure born January 23, 1817 and died July 11, 1845; Elizabeth born April 30, 1819, married a Robinett; Mary Ann (Polly) born August 5, 1822 married Elijah Chapman; George Chapman McClure born November 15, 1823 married Jane Borders; Ellen born June 28, 1825 married Harvey Workman, son of George Workman of Wayne Co., WV; Rebecca born January 25, 1827 married Alderson Workman; Alazanah born October 5, 1828 married Morgan Garret; Sarah Ann born July 16, 1830 married Isaac Bloss of WV; Strother born March 19, 1832 married Martha Garret; Nancy C. born Oct 8, 1833 married Sampson Billups; William Landon born May 2, 1835 married Louisa Booth; Robert M. born May 14, 1837 died May 15, 1837; Julia P. born December 11, 1838 married Neal Burgess; Albert G. The McClure Brothers

In 1893, the Brunswick Hotel was advertised as the only first class commerical hotel in the city, convenient to the depot and river. With first class rooms and good home cooked meals.

At that time the proprietors were the McClure brothers, L. T. and T. S. McClure. L.T. McClure was the father of Arch McClure who owned the Sundry Store on the corner which at that time was a sidewalk, where the hotel patrons would sit and smoke, whittle and swap jokes in the cool afternoon and nights.

Earl McClure, a retired West Virginia farmer, was a son of Dr. George W. McClure of Cincinnati, Ohio. A daughter Nellie, died in infancy. Mrs. McClure, the former Miss Elizabeth Cummings, a sister of John Cummings and the late Belle Shannon (Eamest E. Shannon was married 1st to Belle then married 2nd to Reba) Belle was a very religious person and was very careful that the children would be reared in a home like environment.

The living quarters were apart from the hotel proper, but the children would sometimes gather in the hotel parlor to read and study their McGuffey readers. Their fourth reader was used by all of the little boys of this family and was later handed down to Sullivan Garred, brother of Emily G. Swetnam.

The parlor of the hotel, as well as any other rooms were kept clean by Aunt Ad Wallace. She was from a family of 13 children, very stout and always wore a white dust cap with frilly lace and a large white apron that reached the hem of her long calico dress.

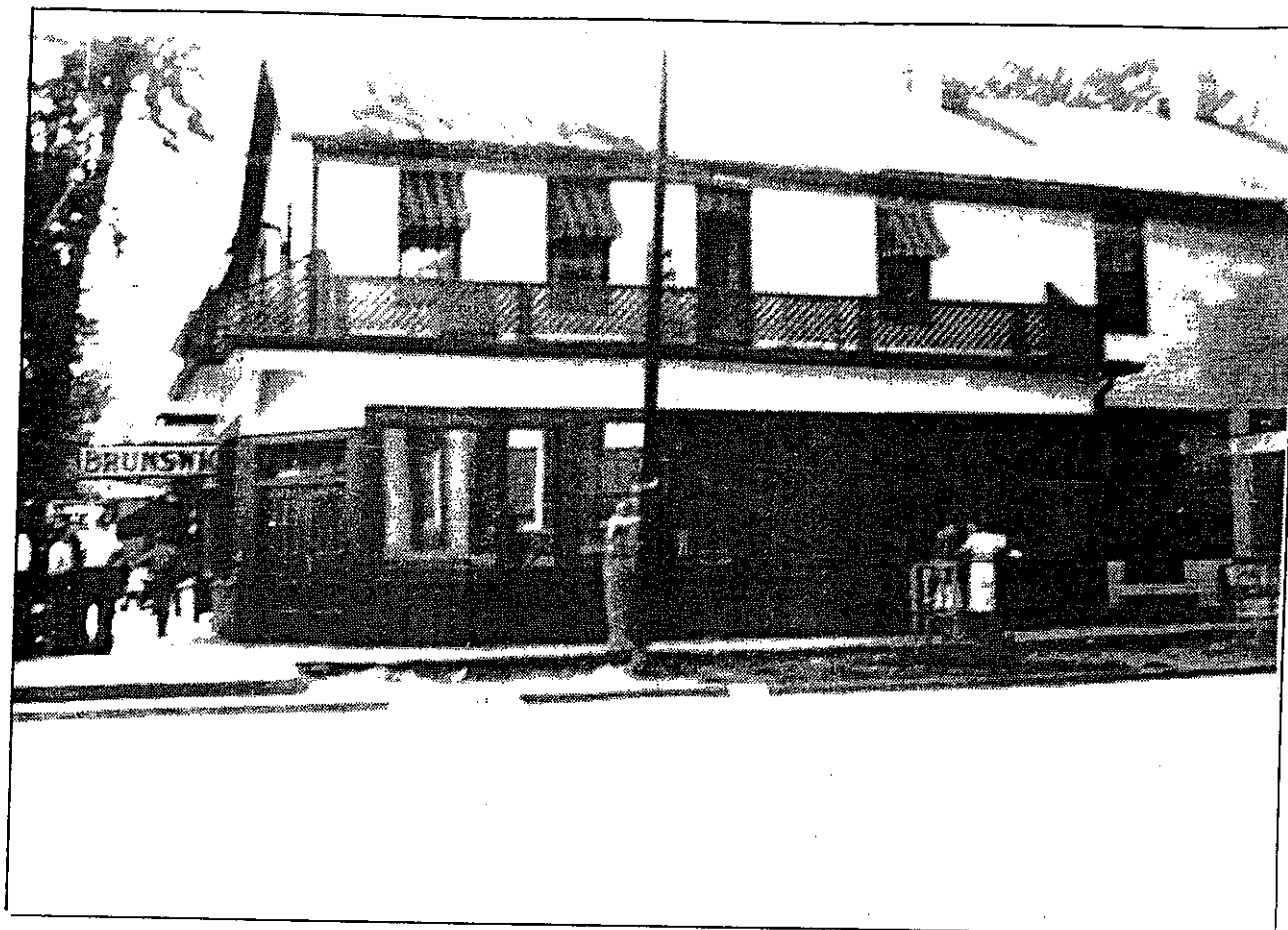

The parlor floor was completely covered with a matting rug, a black leather couch and several chairs were placed around the room. In the center of the floor was a large oval shaped library table. On the manel above the open fire place were the pictures of the family and several of little Nellie, the only daughter of the McClures.

The kitchen of the Hotel Brunswick had a modern water system and two large stoves. One had a large warming closet and on one side of the other stove was a five gallon reservoir where the water was kept hot for cooking purposes.

The coal and wood for these stoves was brought in by the children of some of the servants. All the cooking utensils were made of iron. Aluminum was unheard of then and tin was thought to be poison if food was left in it and graniteware was not used often for fear a chip would come off in the food. There was an extra stove in the center of the kitchen that was used only to heat water for dishwashing.

Beside Mr. and Mrs. L. T. McClure, there were Mr. Arch and Earl McClure and their Aunt, Mrs. James Adams. When Mr. E. E. Shannon was the proprietor of the Hotel Brunswick, Mr. John Burns was the manager, Mr. John Cumming, a brother of Mrs. L. T. McClure, was a resident of the hotel also.

EDWARDS CEMETERY

Take US Rt. 23 to Ulysses and right to Sugar Plum, about 3 miles on top of ridge. (Note from Authors: We had a very hard climb. A difficult road to travel, rugged and rough. There were numerous unknown graves, very unkept. Weeds and trees, everywhere. The cemetery was very grown up on top the ridge and thru-out the cemetery. Many stones were not readable due to the trama on sandstone and the weather of time.)

The Judd Family

In February 1996, the Judd home place on Catts Fork of Big Blaine Creek in Lawrence County, Kentucky was for sale. Unoccupied for 15 years, the faded white frame house appeared dilapidated, its broad porch falling down.

Relatives of Naomi Judd, the famous eastern Kentucky country singer, decided to sell their ancestral fram.

Naomi Judd states "my favorite part of childhood was when daddy drove us out to the original Judd homestead (her father was Charles Glen Judd), which his great grandparents, Fanny and Elijah had bought with Elijahs' pension at the end of the Civil War. It was a nice white two story frame house with a porch all the way around the front, situated on more than 100 acres of fertile soil" (from Love Can Build a Bridge by Naomi Judd. She recalls her family farm very fondly in her memoirs)

The Fredrick Moore Family

Fredrick "Tip" Moore, came to the "Forks of the Big Sandy" around 1815, six years before Louisa was a town and bought a large section of land on both sides of the river. Three years later he sent for his family who were in Philadelphia. By this time he had built a comfortable home on the Virginia side at what was later known as Cassville, now Fort Gay, West Virginia.

In 1821 Louisa was made the county seat of Lawrence Co., Kentucky and by then Mr. Moore was very prosperous; he owned much land, and though he did not believe in slavery, in business transactions he had acquired many slaves. When they fell to his ownership he was kind to them, treating them as servants and not as slaves.

He built several brick houses and his family was living in the large brick house in the lower end of town where Clyde Miller lived. Mr. Moore's home was a stopping place of great statesmen, lawyers and all Methodist preachers. Mr. Moore was 85 years old and still making visits to the sick, and helping all widows and orphan children, including a weekly habit of visiting the jail.

He married a sister to John Van Horn. The following are children of Fredrick Moore: Sarah born in Pennsylvania in 1812, married 1) John Poage, 2) Pleasant Savage of Virginia; Frances born about 1814, married W. T. Nichols; W. F. Moore was the oldest son; Mary born 1818 married Thomas Wallace; another daughter whose name is unknown married Rev. C. M. Sullivan; another daughter whose name is unknown married Talton Everett; Laban Theodore married Sarah Everett; Rebecca born about 1833 married George Gallup; Frederick Jr. was the youngest son.

A History of Gallup

About the time the Napoleonic Wars of Europe were coming to a close with the battle of Waterloo, and about the time that our own great general, Andrew Jackson, was putting the cap sheaf on our second war with Great Britain by his complete victory at New Orleans in 1815, a spirit of unrest and expansion was taking hold of the settlers of old Virginia.

There was at that time in Botetourt county, Virginia, a few folk who were planning on leaving their comfortable homes and starting on a long trip by way of canoe across the country to the new land of Indiana territory. After a few weeks of careful study about what they should take along, they embarked in Joe boats and log canoes on the New River. They floated and paddled along until they came to the Great Kanawha falls near Charleston and Fayetteville, West Virginia....they winded their way on down the Kanawha out into the Ohio River, still bent on Indiana territory.

When they arrived at the mouth of the Big Sandy river, where Catlettsburg now stands, some pioneers who lived there told them that up the Big Sandy River was fine hunting and fishing. Not being in any hurry and wishing to replenish their food supply, they decided to push up and see. So, about March 15, 1815, they arrived at what is now Chapman, landing near the present locks of Big Sandy. They found a rude bark hut which had been erected by some hunters, so here they decided to stay and hunt for a few weeks.

On looking around, they found such nice fertile bottoms on each side of the river that the leader, who was trained by a long lineage of German farmers, saw it was useless to go farther in quest of good agricultural land, for here was level, fertile soil only waiting for the ax of the pioneer to prepare it for cultivation. They soon decided to stay, they built a log cabin, and began to prepare for the first year at this place. This must have been where Sink Fugitt now lives.

The group consisted of seven persons - a man, his wife, two children, a girl of six, a boy of three and a father-in-law. This man was Joseph Peck, 35 years old, his wife, Elizabeth Chapman Peck, Rebecca and George, the children and George W. Chapman, the father-in-law, who was also the father of another famous lady, that enters into the history of Gallup. The name was Lucretia Chapman McClure.

After several years of hard pioneering they succeeded in making a good home and beautiful farm from this small beginning, and the community began to spread, for very soon more people came. Among them was William McClure, who had married Lucretia Chapman, a sister of Joseph Peck's wife... their daughter Rebecca Pack, grew up and married Owan Dyer, and they lived near a flowing spring on what is now the Jeff Burgess farm.

They reared four fine daughters, one of who was Nancy Garred, wife of David W. Garred and mother of Lea A., Isadore, Ulysses, Owen D., Richard, Arnoldus, and Mrs. Onalda Burgess; for in the meantime the Garreds had settled near what is now the Lee Garred and Malcolm Burgess farms, and the Burgess' just across the river on what is known as the Dr. Burgess farm.

....More pioneers had come to join in the making of Gallup's history. They were Jimmie, Tommie and George Shannon, Isaac and George Chapman, Lige Chapman, John and Francis Spaulding, Neddie Miller, and Jonnie Dobbins.

The Dobbins and Spauldings settled at the mouth of Contrary Creek, the Chapmans on Griffith Creek, the Shannons and Neddie Miller on what is now the Jeff Burgess. Several of the Spauldings and Shannons, and also Patience Clay Chapman are buried on this farm.

In about 1860 a storeboat stopped at the mouth of Griffith Creek and after selling there for five or six years, George Ed Chapman built a store house near where the section house now stands. Chapman married a daughter of Johnny Dobbins (Rebecca)...

In 1840 a Methodist church was built on the Joe Peck land, opposite the Chapman depot. Rev. Black was one of the first ministers, or circuit riders as they were then known...When the railroad was built up Griffith Creek, the church was moved about a mile from old Peck's station. Then when the railroad was changed up the river, it was moved to the lane on George McClure's farm. Later, as the population shifted toward Chapman station, W. M. Chapman and his wife, Lydia Peck Chapman, gave the site for the present location.

From the George C. and Emily Stafford Peck branch sprang twelve children, nearly all of whom reared families. So it can easily be seen these early families and the circuit rider planted a solid foundation for the Christian faith, which has stood the test of time and grown to the present institution of this community; for it is a notorious fact that where Methodism is implanted, education and progress always follows.

The Chapman Family

The Chapmans were of English origin, immigrated to America and settled in Connecticut long prior to the Revolutionary War. From there they moved to Charles County, Maryland. Leaving Maryland before the beginning of the Revolution, a part of them came to Culpepper County, Virginia. Isaac Chapman was among this number, and there he married Sarah Cole by whom he had three sons and one daughter, namely, Isaac, John, Richard and Jemina.

John and Richard married sisters, Sallie and Margaret Abbott, daughters of Richard Abbott, of Culpepper County. Their brother, Rev. James Abbott, a Baptist minister, located in the New River section (West Virginia) in 1774. The only daughter of Isaac and Sarah Chapman, was Jemina. She married Moredock McKenzie, a Scotchman from Glasgow. The story of the capture of their two children by the Indians in May, 1778, was a very chilling one.

John and Richard and their brother-in-law Moredock McKenzie, came from Culpepper in 1771 and located at the mouth of Walkers Creek in what is now Giles County, Virginia. John had two houses destroyed by the Indians, his wife and children, Isaac, George, John, Henley and Sallie, having to flee to Snidows Fort for protection. The last house built by John Chapman is still standing being encased in the frame dwelling.

In a list of thirty five names, there appears the names of John and Richard Chapman and Moredock McKenzie. A Colonel Preston wrote Thomas Burk, who had a fort near the mouth of Sinking Creek, Virginia, three miles from the home of John Chapman, to send him a list of brave, strong, able bodied men for his expedition. That expedition was the Battle of Point Pleasant.

During the years 1774 - 1779, John Chapman and his son Isaac were stationed in Snidows', Barger's, and Hatfield Forts. John Chapman was appointed ensign under Captain Floyd, his first service being from April to October, 1779 and his second service being from March to June 1780. he was recommended for Lieutenant November 1780.

John Chapman was born January 18, 1740 at Orange County, Virginia and died around 1813 in Giles County, Virginia. He is buried in the old Chapman burial grounds near the old homestead. Though his grave is unmarked, the plot has been enclosed with a concrete wall, and the John Chapman Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution have erected a Revolutionary marker for his grave.

----- Source: Annals of Tazewell County, Virginia

A descendant of John and Sallie Abbott Chapman, George Ed Chapman, was born in Gallia County, Ohio; died in Lawrence County, Kentucky, the son of Isaac and Sarah (Dawson) Chapman. His lineage goes back to the Revolutionary War Soldier, John Chapman. George Ed married 1st Rebecca Ellen Dobbins, daughter of John Dobbins, Sr. and Catherine Spaulding. George Ed and Rebecca's children were: James Monroe Chapman married Rutha Ellen Childers; Francis M. Chapman married Minnie Peck; Samuel Chapman; and Myrtle Chapman married Reuben Lunsford; Alta Chapman married William Wallace; Isaac Chapman married Mamie Maynard; Tom Bay (Thomas) Chapman; and George W. Chapman married Mamie Short.

George Ed Chapman married 2nd Mary E. Branham Maynard, widow of Colonel Maynard. George and Mary's children were: Luther Chapman married Belle Waldeck; Onolda Grace Chapman married Thomas Curry; Trimble Chapman married Margarette "Maggie" Belcher; Mayme Chapman married Carl Compton.

George Ed purchased a small tract of land on the Levisa River, at "The Devils Nubbin", next to the Peck Family farm. He was a mercantile businessman, a sawmill owner and was the first Post Master at Gallup. After his first wife died, he moved to and became the Post Master at Clifford. He married Mrs. Maynard shortly after.

George Ed Chapman's lineage goes back to Revolutionary War Soldiers and Patriots: John Chapman and Mitchell Clay.

Possibly 4 more graves as sink holes are visible.

It is said by Dixie Fitch Stepp that the first people to be buried here, was some of the Charlie Preston family. That might explain the 4 additional sink holes.

They were the first people that lived there, at the home place, and the first people to be buried there. This was many years ago and lived here in Lawrence County. The place is called "Wild Cat".

Levi Adkins

In 1865, Levi Adkins came to Louisa from Pike County, Kentucky and married a daughter of Mrs. Mars Armstead Burchett. After several years in the lumber business, he bought the St. Lawrence Hotel from his father-in-law and in 1876 built a new hotel in its place and named it the Chattaroi Hotel. He and his wife Sarah Elizabeth Burchett, ran the hotel until around 1879 or 1880 when they sold it to Owen Garred. The name of the Hotel was changed to the Hotel Brunswick in February 1891, when the new owners L. T. and T. S. McClure took over. The Brunswick stood on the corner of Main Cross and Madison Street and was owned afterwards by Mrs. Ernest E. Shannon, known affectionately as "Reba".

Mrs. Levi Adkins or Sarah, will be remembered by her affectionate name of "Aunt Sackie Adkins" whose old home place is now known as the Dr. Joe E. Carter house.

Mr. George Riggs, Miss Willie Riggs and Mr. Milton Riggs were grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Armstead Burchett and Mr. William "Bill" Riggs of Louisa is a great grandson. Also, Mrs. Sally Cain Riggs Collins was a great, great, granddaughter of both "Tip" Fredrick Moore and Armstead Burchett.

Abraham Workman's son was Dr. Joseph Workman, born in New Jersey about 1736-7 and married August 4, 1761 in York County, Penn. to Phebe M'Ray, daughter of Hugh M'ecmeher (the name is German and several spellings have been found, M'Meagher/McMahon) is the ancestry line for most in this area. A Woman Older Than County of Lawrence

Mrs. Mahala Wells Huff, Living Near Louisa, is 104 Years Old

It has been a long time since the city of Louisa and the county of Lawrence came into existence. We hardly expect to find anything animate that has lived on this earth long enough to remember as far back as the beginning of this centennial epan. But we have with us a woman who has exceeded that hundred years by four. Not only that but she looks good for meny more years.

This remarkable woman is Mrs. Mahala Huff, widow of a veteran of the war of 1812. The pension department has her record and she is the oldest person on their rolls. Doubtless she is the oldest woman in the state of Kentucky.

She lives three miles southeast of Louisa.

The picture shown at the head of this article was taken on the 18th of August. She lives with her son, Henderson Wells, who is in his 70th year.

When a reporter for the NEWS visited the home she was cutting weeds with a hoe. She is very active and industrious, keeping busy at all kinds of housework—cooking, sweeping, etc. Also, she takes care of a lot of chickens. Two weeks ago she walked two miles, over a mountain, to visit some friends.

Mrs. Huff was born and raised on Wells Ridge on Twelve Pole, Va., (now W. Va.) in 1818 and moved to Fort Gay later on. 37 years ago she moved to Lawrence county with her son.

Notwithstanding her extreme age she is bright and happy and takes a lively interest in affairs around her. Her hearing is good and she can see well enough to thread a needle.

The following facts were taken from the pension records at Washington recently by a Louisville newspaper:

Washington, May 30.—On this Decoration day the thoughts of the second conflict in this nation's history, fought 110 years ago, is uppermost in the minds of at least two score of women—forty—some widows who had husbands in the war of 1812.

And on this Decoration day for the first time Kentucky has the honor of being the home State of the eldest widow, whose name is on the Government pension roll as the result of service rendered to the country by her husband in the first war after the foundation of the American Government.

MRS. MAHALA WELLS HUFF AND SON.

For, according to the latest available record of the United States Pension Office, Mrs. Mahala Huff of Louisa, Ky., can claim that distinction.

Mrs. Huff who is 103 years old, is the widow of Jamee Huff, who served as a private in Company G of the Virginia Militia in the war of 1812. He volunteered November 5, 1813, at Knoxville, Tenn., and served until March 10, 1814, when he was honorably discharged. Jamee Huff, according to the Pension Bureau records was born in Virginia in 1784. He was 18 years old when he volunteered to fight for his country against the British and he was still under his majority when he was discharged, after serving with the Fourth Regiment of Virginia Cavalry in the battle of the Clouds near Norfolk, Va.

Married When 50 Years Old.

Two years after he had doffed the uniform and returned to his farm he married Miss Anna Pennington in Harlan county, Kentucky. Later his wife died, and December 5, 1868 when 75 years old, he married again, his second wife being Mahala Wells, who was then 50 years old. And the second Mrs. Huff, according to the records, still survives and is now a resident of Louisa, Ky., where the Government sends her monthly pension check. On Decoration day a year ago the distinction now held by Mrs. Huff went to Mrs. Elizabeth R. Tyler of Baltimore, Md., who died recently at the age of 104.

Hatton and Archer

Dr. J. F. Hatton at Buchanan (formerly known as Rockville Station and changed in 1891 to Buchanan) had a general store at Bear Creek, and by having a general store that was used or needed by the settlers of those days, from bear meat and bear fat to ginseng and other medical roots. They were exchange centers where folks came by push boat or horse back to exchange their products for flour and coffee, and came as far away as Cincinnati, Ohio.

George Archer, in 1864, found that by his careful saving, he had enough money to join Dr. Hatton as a partner. George came around 1858 from Virginia to the mouth of Bear Creek and began to work for farmers in that vicinity. He worked hard for five or six years and saved every dime earned, often doing without the necessary things of life. Most of his clothes were hand woven, all of which he brought from Virginia.

Among his possessions was a jeans long coat that played a part in identifying robbers of the Hatton and Archer General Store. As a result, the robbers were identified by the coat and hung by a mob. The event was call "The Salt Water Branch Hanging" of Jim Lyons, John Lyons and Bill Wright. They were buried at the Lick Creek Cemetery as it holds many unknowns. (Note: John Lyons was only 18 years old)

Colonel Jay H. Northup offered space on a part of his land at the mouth of Lick Creet for a final resting place.

MILLER CEMETERY

Take US 23 from Louisa toward Paintsville, Ky. It is about 3-4 miles, go past Piney Point Farms, take next road on right.. Go up gravel drive on Chrisley Branch about a mile. Then you see a barn on the left, then red house, you can see right above a hillside, go past house to the curve, you can see an open well in a bottom on your left. Park there, cross barb wire fence onto bottom land, you can see where a road has been made on hillside. Follow that road to the cemetery.

(The following was written by Dottie Blankenship:) "The story I was always told by my great aunt, Laura Miller Adkins Finley was that when Emeline Miller died, they put her behind the house on a point. So I would presume the land there at one time was owned by the Erastus Miller Family".

Neri Sweatnum

One of the solid pioneers of the Big Sandy was Neri Sweatnam. His son Neri came into the valley in 1818 and bought a vast tract of land on Blaine Creek. He built his house, an exceptionally large one, in a bend of this creek, nine miles from its mouth.

He and Fredrick Moore, who founded the town of Louisa nine miles across the hills, became fast friends. Neri Sweatnum was the father of several children, among them a girl names Louisa. Moore was especially fond of this girl and he chose to name the town in honor of her. Both Sweatnum and Moore were pioneer preachers.

Louisa Sweatnum married Robert Walter, son of a noted Baptist preacher of Russell County, Virginia. Their second daughter married William Ely, the Sandy Valley historian. Their oldest daughter married J. R. Dean of Lawrence County. He was a school commissioner, county surveyor, county Judge and farmer. Grandchildren of this marriage are Louis and Irene Barrett of Barboursville, West Virginia.

SWETNAM CEMETERY

After leaving Louisa take Route 645 going toward Inez. Turn left on Route 1690. Go about 2.7 miles, turn left on Route 2, paved road not marked. Road runs by the railroad track. Go to end of road about 4 miles. About the second mail box from the end. Cemetery is on the right on a small hill. If you continue on you will see an old house with barn and trailer. This was Kurt Jordan place. All of this land was the Burgess place.

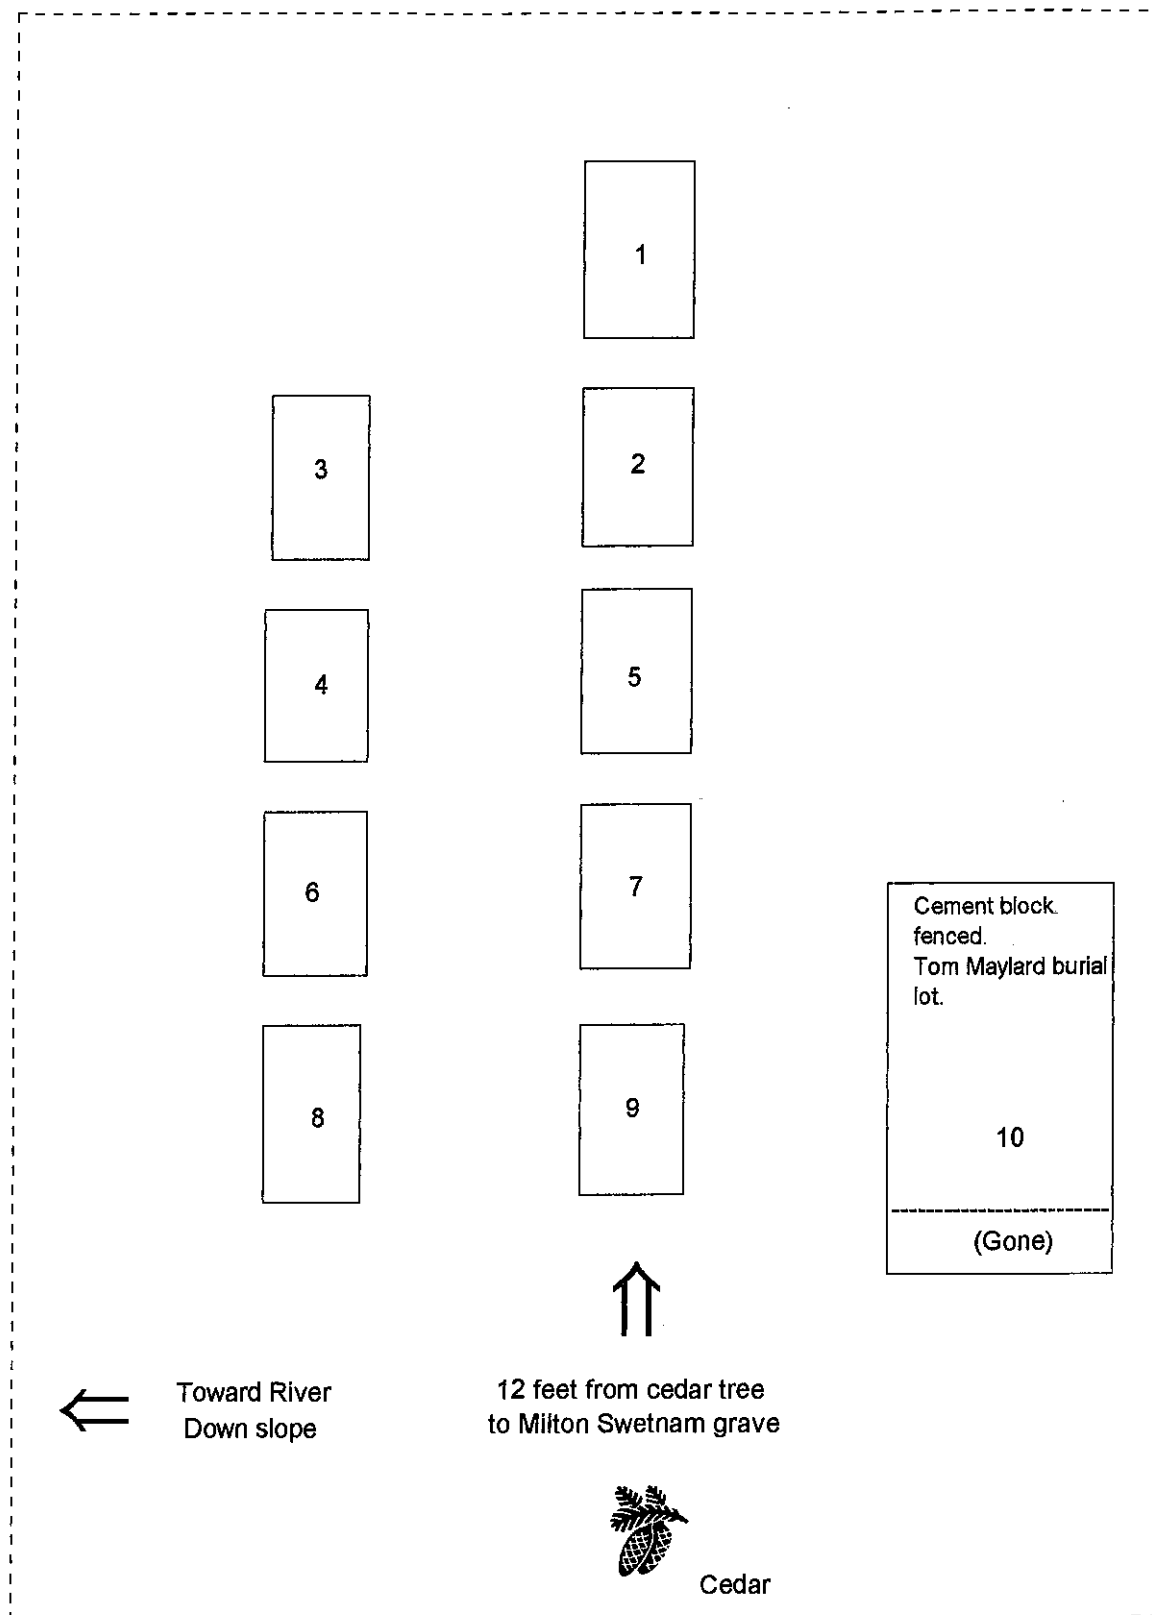

"The last time I visited the area (1997), I was unable to find the graves. I found large trees and underbrush. I do have pictures from the early years of the graves. I found a number of current graves from a local person, now buried in the cemetery. Pictures are from 1940-1950".

The Pack's in America

The Pack family in America originated from England where the name is historic. The old world Packs became famous as businessmen, physicians and performers... The earliest Pack known in America was Richard Packe enumerated in "A List of the Living in Virginia" dated February 16, 1623. On July 6, 1635 William Pack obtained a license to go to America on the ship Paule. A similar application was made for Stephen Pack aboard the ship Constance on October 24, 1635 (a Delaware Colony listing of settlers identifies an E. Pack in 1681)...

Sometime before 1750, the Pack ancestors we are concerned with come to Jamestown, Virginia - a man with several sons ready to settle on the James River. The name of this man, his position and condition remains, so far, unknown. Life was too difficult as a new settler and the family soon returned to England. Three of the sons reentered America a short time later probably before 1754. Two of the brothers went South and one stayed in Virginia. The names of the three are not positively known. Census records and early histories verbally passed through the generations imply the men were Joseph, Simon, and Samuel.

Joseph (who received a royal land grant of 10,000 acres) and Simon settled in South Carolina becoming the founders of Packsville (Paxville) and the progenitors of the strong Pack presence in the South. Samuel, a trapper, hunter and Indian fighter, explored the Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky mountains, a pioneer of the Blue Ridge Mountains and Appalachian Trail. It is to this Virginia man we the Kentucky Packs, owe our heritage.

Samuel Pack entered Monroe County, West Virginia (then Virginia), reportedly from Tidewater as a trapper with Swop and Pitman in 1763. Son Samuel Jr. was born sometime before 1760 in Augusta County, Virginia. Another child thought to be George was born around 1755.

Certainly Samuel Jr. and his brother George were fighters... Fought what is sometimes considered the first battle of the Revolutionary War in 1774 at a point of land on the confluence of the Kanawha and Ohio Rivers; the Lord Dunmore War. Samuel Jr. and George were also active in the Montgomery County Militia organized in 1777. Samuel Jr. again entered the U.S. service in 1782 and later received pay for 7 months and 24 days duty beginning April 4, 1792...

Samuel Jr. married Mary Farley, daughter of the famous Francis Farley, Sr. and died a wealthy man at his home on Brush Creek, Monroe County, West Virginia in 1833...

The history of George Pack is more elusive... He married first to a lady named Mary, and second in 1799 to Elizabeth Brown, a daughter of William Brown of Monroe County. At this time George disappears until 1811 reappearing in the 1811 Giles County Tax List... He appears in the 1820 Floyd County, Kentucky census, evidently following his sons, Samuel, George and Charles, westward...

Altogether George had eleven children from his two marriages... In 1821 Lawrence County, Kentucky was formed from Floyd County and became the new address for the Pack residents. The 1830 census did not list the elderly George. In 1824, a William Brown applied for a pension. His statement says he had been living with Elizabeth and George Pack for seven years.

Almost all the Eastern Kentucky Packs are descendants from George.
