DID YOU KNOW??

Some early marriages have "HF" or "H/F" printed beside the names of the couple...this abbreviation stand for "Hands Fast". Handfasting was a form of announcing the intention of the couple to marry without the formal blessing of a preacher. The couple would stand before a group of friends and acquaintances, clasp their hands together over their heads and state their intentions. "Handfasting" was good for one year and one day, or until a preacher came alone to preform the rites of a proper marriage. Any child born during the "Handfasting" was considered legitimate and would inherit!!

DEDICATION

Laban Eugene "Lew" Wallace
1919 - 1992

This book is dedicated to the memory, the historical, and genealogical work of Lew Wallace. He was always willing to share his information.

Laban Eugene "Lew" Wallace, Jr., was born March 8, 1919 in Lawrence County, and died March 15, 1992. He was the son of Laban Eugene Wallace and Roxie Bradley Wallace.

He was the County Surveyor, a position which he held for many years. He worked for the highway department for 14 years, Paul Coffice Construction Company, Addington Brothers and was retired from Ashland Coal 1981.

He was a World War II veteran. He served with the Engineers and Infantry, during his tour of duty. He belonged to the VFW Post 6103 and American Legion Post 89.

Mr. Wallace was president of Greenlawn Cemetery, incorporated and trustee for Pine Hill Cemetery.

He was a well known historian, concerning the people and places in Lawrence County and worked extensively with genealogy. He was also a member of several Genealogical and Historical Societies.

He was married to Jessie Margaret Dodson Wallace. He was preceded in death by his wife, who died in 1984. Both are buried in Greenlawn Cemetery.

Surviving are two daughters, Jane Kathryn Branham of Louisa and LuAnn Wallace of Lexington. Two sisters, Dove Chaffin of Louisa, and Vervyl Lycan of Lebanon, Ohio; three brothers, Tom Wallace and Elwood Wallace of Cincinnati, Ohio and Virgil Wallace of Louisa; three grandsons, Christopher Wallace Miller, Matthew Allan Miller, and Geoffrey Michael Branham.

INTRODUCTION

This book was compiled and researched for the interest of historical, genealogical, and family interest. To preserve the History of Lawrence County and the people in it. To never forget those who have gone on before us, that have paved the way to make Lawrence County a better place to live. This is to all relatives and descendants - may we never forget our cemeteries, our past, or our heritage.

CEMETERIES AS A SOURCE

Cemeteries are not simply a repository for the dead, but are representations of planning and organization. Location was an important factor. The land chosen was usually waste land or inaccessible for farming. In Cabell County, West Virginia, cemeteries are most often found in one of three places. The most favored location was the hill top nearest to the house and southwest of it but visible from the house. A second location was part way up the hill on a protruding bench, also southwest and visible from the house. The third location was at stream level and usually represented rapid or unwanted burials, such as disease, strangers, accidents or slaves. One sure indication of an old cemetery in this area was a single cedar tree or several in a pattern. The cedar was not common in Cabell County, but it was considered a religious tree and was used to identify graveyards.

The top of the hill was as close to God as possible. If the hilltop was inaccessible, impracticable (solid rock) or not on your property, then the secondary bench was acceptable. A southwest position allowed the graveyard to face the sun so "the sun would always shine on the deceased". The burial was arranged so the body faced west and the sunset (some faced sunrise). Stream level cemeteries were most often lost due to erosion or farming, although new farming methods and housing developments have endangered some of the most inaccessible. Most "lost" cemeteries cease to be used; and when the last person in that family died or moved, they became "lost".

Planning in the graveyard itself was also necessary. It was necessary to plan the size of the graves and estimate the needed space (expansion space being one of the main reason for abandoning the graveyard). Family members were laid to rest in certain order, not necessarily by death dates. Spouses were most often side by side, with wife on her husband's "heart side", but they could also be outside the children to protect them. Space was left for second marriages and in-laws. If more than one family shared a yard, than each family had a separate section somewhat similar to lots in modern cemeteries. Modern cemeteries design the yard to fit the land area, while old yards were most often squares or rectangles.

The planning and organization that was used to locate the cemeteries and lay out the graves, makes it possible to discover "lost" cemeteries and determine their extent.

DEATH

(Article contains excerpts from George Wolfford's, "Lawrence County Pictorial History" published in 1972)

Concurrent with sickness, came death. And each case was not only an individual history in itself, it became a part of a larger history. Most of the pioneers tried to put their dead into the earth in some sort of container, whether it be a stone cairn or a European-style coffin fashioned of saplings. They placed a marker at the head of the grave, normally a small piece of native sandstone or limestone. But these markers most often bore only initials or numbers in some private code known only to the family which did the burying. As time passed, and relatives faded to age, nature encroached on the sacred spot, covering it with a foot of loam in a hundred years. The coded stone, washed illegible by ten thousand rains, was also covered, and the pioneer dead have vanished.

But not all of them. A few settlers had either money to put up a formal marker or the inclination to erect one which would stand the erasures of time. David Garred, Jr., for instance, was entombed in a native stone vault overlooking Sandy, near his upriver home.

Until the 1880's, death was a matter for families and neighbors to handle, right from body preparation down to clothing, gravedigging, and sermonizing. Because ministers weren't always handy to perform that final function, the homefolks staged a preliminary ceremony at the time of interment, but the formal funeral was not preached until a circuit rider came again, which might be as much as six months later. From this practice developed the "funeralizing" or all-day spring rite which was done each year for those who had passed on since the previous spring. It was especially effective in giving solace to survivors whose loved ones had gone on during winter months.

In 1888, R. C. McClure, a colorful politician of many functions advertised Lawrence County's first commercial funeral service, including in his selection burial cases of metal, wood, cloth-cover.

"To the people at the end of the railroad line, I can sell you coffins cheaper than you can buy the material and have them made. In addition to furnishing complete outfits, I attend in person and superintend all funerals, relieving friends of the deceased of a great deal of embarrassment by having things done decently and in order."

McClure's prices started at $2.50. He was followed by Charles Crutcher in 1890 and J. W. Costa in 1892, but most people still relied on the community method of final rites. At Webbville, Franklin Pierce Spears was a carpenter-farmer and was called on to build a coffin anytime death occurred. John Wesley Bradley, on Pleasant Ridge, drew the same duty, producing for his neighbors coffins of smoothly-planed lumber, shaped wide at the shoulder and tapered toward the foot. They were lined with black calico over cotton batting. A small coffin "factory" was active at Busscaville.

Based on the funeralizing, Moses Skaggs of Ira determined to hear his own funeral preached while he was still living, and the ceremony was performed on his 69th birthday. The seriousness of the rite was lost, however when neighborhood boys carried a crude coffin of rough lumber onto the grounds and the angry corpse chased them away.

Other semi-professional funeral services were interspersed with the home-style funerals directed by casket salesmen, like Frank Pigg and the Snyder Brothers, Augustus and Jeff.

In 1900, the Snyder Brothers Hardware Store advertised additional services, together with Frank Pigg, who was a coffin maker, owned the only four horse team and funeral wagon.

The first licensed embalmer-undertaker came to Lawrence County in 1927, Henry Herndon Curtright, born at Shelbyville, Kentucky, May 5, 1901, was a graduate of Kentucky School of Mortuary Science.

The first burial by Curtright's Funeral Home was Ollie May Young Frazier, wife of Alex L. Frazier and sister of Nolda Young Adkins (wife of William J. "Dock" Adkins). Ollie died June 5, 1927, aged 23 years, 1 month, 15 days, at Catlettsburg. She was transported to Louisa by train and buried in the Frazier Cemetery at Louisa.

In 1945, Richard Pryor Reid, a mortician, came to Louisa from Lexington to help Henry H. Curtright with his growing business. Henry and "Dick" met at a Funeral Directors convention in Louisville. Dick said he would come to Louisa if his wife Alice Juanita Combs, could get a job. As a registered nurse, she went to work at the Lawrence County Health Department, giving twenty-one years of service. She is remembered for giving a lot of "shots" as a visiting Home Nurse.

With Henry H. Curtright, came the community's first motorized hearse, replacing the livery stable's horse-drawn vehicles.

In the business with him the first year were two morticians-to-be, Bryon Young and J. Fred Miller.

A majority of funerals were by that date performed in neighborhood churches, though families still maintained their plots. Embalming and professional counseling were done in the home of the deceased in most cases, with the corpse often never leaving the house until time for burial. Funeral costs ranged from $85 to $750.

In 1947 Bryon Young opened his own Funeral Parlor. He bought a home in downtown Louisa, that was "easy walking distance for all". The Home was owned at one time by the McClure family and later by the Carey heirs. The house was built in 1889, purchased in 1947 by Mr. Young. This site would become Youngs Funeral Home, which continues to provide services today.

Around 1957, Mr. Young decided to buy the chapel next door after the First Baptist Church decided to build a new structure. The original building was a wooden structure built in 1910. The First Baptist Church was organized in 1883.

In 1948 Ed Preston, mortician, graduate of Kentucky School of Embalming, Class of 1951, became associated with Youngs Funeral Home. He is currently the president of the State Board of Embalmers and Funeral Directors.

In 1964, James Heston opened his funeral home in Louisa in the former Evans mansion. Mr. Heston suffered a major fire in July 1968 and rebuilt a new funeral home on the same site.

July 10, 1967, Henry Herndon Curtright died. Elizabeth, Henry's wife, continued to operate Currights until 1973, then the doors closed forever on a different era.

In 1969, Aaron Moon, mortician, became associated with Youngs Funeral Home. He was also elected Coroner in 1985 and continues to serve in that capacity today.

By 1972, funerals had become a matter of professional attention, though families still perform about one burial a year on their own.

Even the pioneers had revered their burial plots and kept them cleared away as long as memory of the deceased remained with the living. After the Civil War a new tradition developed, one which now expresses itself on Memorial Day. In brief years after the war, groups of old Union veterans and families of the deceased gathered to decorate graves. They often became events of ceremony, and though the organized marches faded with the flags of the Grand Army of the Republic, Decoration Day remained on for individuals and families. Now formalized as Memorial Day, it has become a traditional day of return for those who have moved away.

Other morticians now associated with Youngs Funeral Home are: Larry See, Kentucky School of Mortuary Science, Class of 1970; George Preston, since January 1976, son of Ed Preston, Kentucky School of Mortuary Science, Class of 1979; and Shawn Spears, Mid America College of Funeral Service, Jeffersonville, Indiana, August 1995.

Richard Pryor Reid, 81 retired mortician succumbed March 14, 1989. The funeral was held at Heston and Wilson Funeral Home, Louisa. Graveside service and interment was in the Ebenezer Church Cemetery in rural Mercer County, outside Harrodsburg.

In 1992, Mike Wilson opened Wilsons Funeral Home, located on Rt.2565 or better known as the Old Mayo Trail, 3 miles south of Louisa. Mike was formerly associated with Jim Heston from January 1, 1986 to May 1, 1992. He graduated from the Kentucky School of Mortuary Science, Class of 1975.

There are 6,000 square feet of a new and modern facility, with four employees. It is family owned and operated with a full service monument business. Personal care and attendance is always acknowledged. A new service offered to the community is 24 hour visitation. Tradition is maintained by the motto "Our family serving your family." Prearrangement services are also offered with a personal request book offered. Mike is a member of the National Funeral Directors Association, Kentucky Funeral Directors Association, and the Kentucky Funeral Directors Burial Association.

Wilson monuments was established in 1973 and continues with the funeral home.

In 1994 Jim Heston's son, Wesley, joined him in the business. Mr. Heston's wife Sue, well known for baking and cooking for giving families passed away February 1995, after a long battle with cancer. Mr. Heston and son Wesley, continue to serve the community today.

There are many unmarked graves in Pine Hill. There are many Unmarked stones as well.

Pine Hill Cemetery pre-dates the Civil War era, thus there are many lost graves and forgotten names and simple field stones. Many graves share more than one person. Many graves were relocated from other parts of the county or another state as was the following cemeteries that were removed to the Pine Hill Cemetery from the state of West Virginia by the West Virginia State Department of Highways in August 1978: The Maynard Cemetery, The McGuire Cemetery, The Frazier Cemetery, and the Whitt Cemetery. The above four cemeteries were moved to the back side of the Fulkerson Addition.

Frederick Moore Vinson (1890-1953)
Born in Louisa, Kentucky. Was the thirteenth Chief Justice of the United States. Buried in Pine Hill Cemetery.

FRANKLIN CEMETERY. Located on Rt. 2 Louisa, Junction 1690, Lawrence County, Kentucky.

THE JOHN'S CEMETERY

JOHN'S CEMETERY

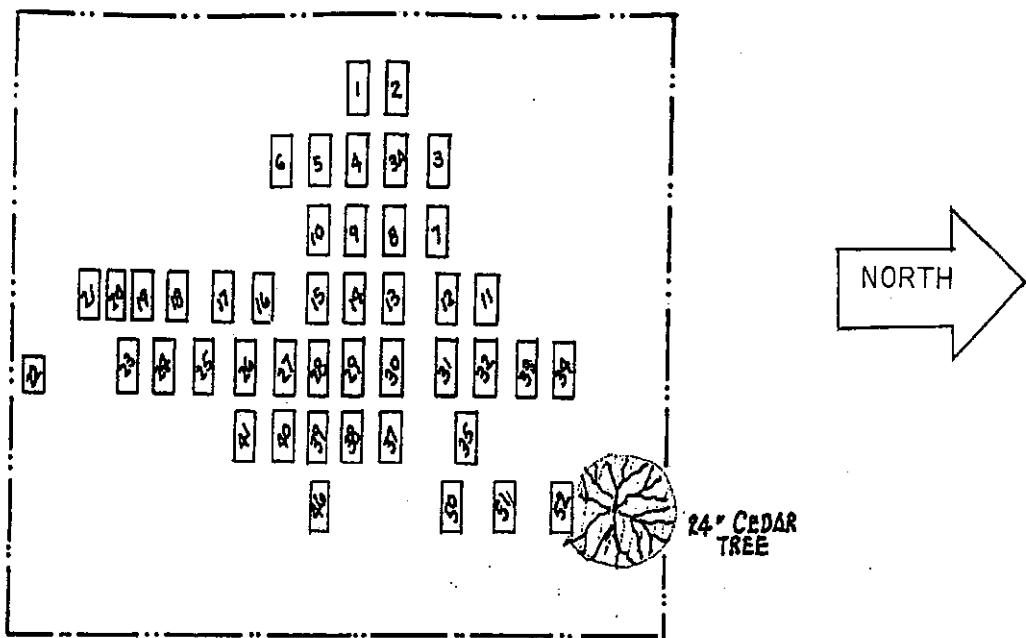

I SAY THAT THIS JOHN'S CEMETERY, BECAUSE THE JOHNS FAMILY OWNED IT AT THE TIME THAT MINTIE BURGESS WAS BURIED. AND I FEEL THAT THEY WERE RELATED. THE FENCE AROUND THE TWO GRAVES ARE IN VERY BAD SHAPE. THE STONE HAS FALLEN OVER, BUT VERY LEGIBLE.

- 1 MINTIE BURGESS FEB. 19, 1847 - APR. 10, 1875.
- 2 JOHN BURGESS JULY 21, 1842 - APR. 27, 1927.

ABOUT 2 MILES SOUTH OF LOUISA, LAWRENCE COUNTY, KY.

THE POTTER CEMETERY. Located on the west side of U.S. Highway 23 on a point overlooking the Kentucky Power Plant, about 6 miles north of Louisa, Lawrence County, Kentucky.

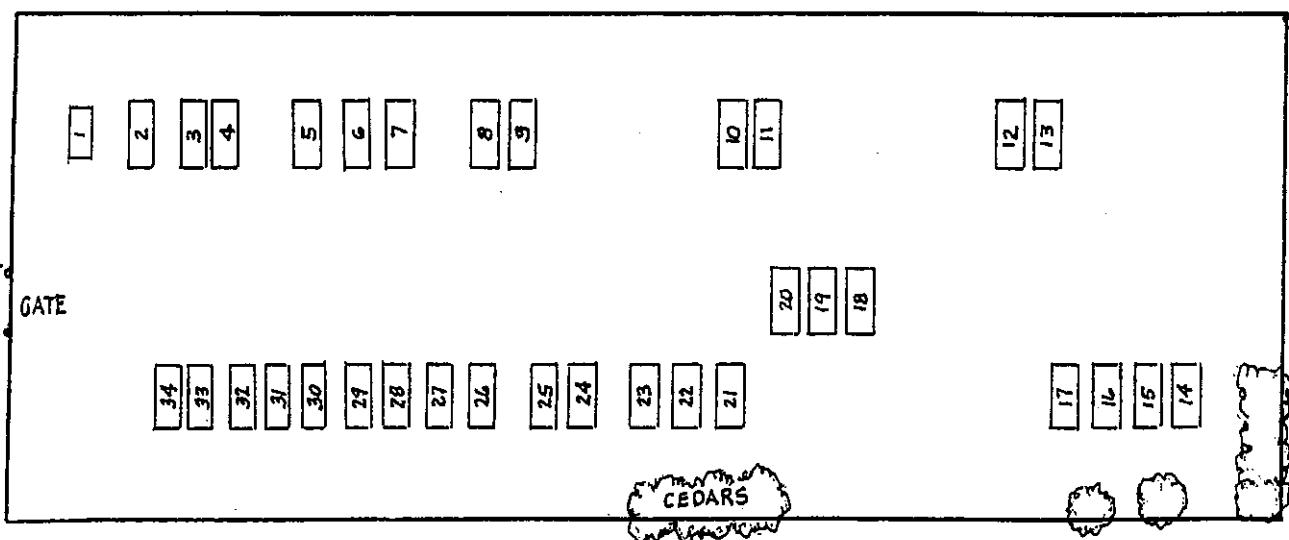

This cemetery lies on the property of the Martin Potter, Sr.'s heirs. We felt further information on this Potter family might be of interest to some readers.

The father of Martin Potter, Sr. was Isaac Potter, who was born in 1845 in Letcher County, Ky. He was a son of Isaac and Mary "Polly" Potter. A record showing Mary's maiden name was either Mary Huston or Mary Arndiff (or Orndorff). Isaac Potter, Sr. was born about 1801 in Kentucky. They were married 17 April 1827 in Perry County, Ky. and resided in the part that became Letcher County in 1842.

Isaac Potter, the father of Martin, married 1st, Polly Isom, in 1864. They had one child, Cassie Potter, born 10 December 1865. Polly (Isom) Potter died in 1865, probably soon after the birth of Cassie. Isaac married second, Elizabeth "Betty" Anderson and they moved to Lawrence County, Ky. and purchased a large farm (300-400 acres). Isaac left this farm to his children who, in turn, sold most of it to the Kentucky Power Company. Isaac and Elizabeth are buried on this farm. Their children were Marion, Edmon, Isaac, Kit, John, George, Martin, Mary, Anna, and Lettie.

Also buried on the Potter property are Harold Anderson, Nannie Anderson, George Anderson, two unidentified Anderson graves and four Butler children's graves. Although I do not know the relationship of these Andersons, they were probably relatives of Elizabeth (Anderson) Potter.

A well known "Potter" in this current era is Homer Quentin Potter of Columbus, Ohio. Mr. Potter presently serves on the Fred M. Vinson Foundation Committee in Lawrence County, Kentucky and makes monthly trips to serve on this very distinguished committee.

PRAAYER FOR GENEALOGISTS

Lord, help me dig into the past
 And sift the sands of time
 That I might find the roots that made
 This family tree of mine.
 Lord, help me trace the ancient road
 On which my fathers trod
 And led them through so many lands
 To find our present sod.
 Lord, help me find an ancient book
 Or dusty manuscript
 That's safely hidden now away
 In some forgotten crypt;
 Lord, let it bridge the gap that haunts
 My soul when I can't find
 The missing link between some name
 That ends the same as mine.

(The following is on a marker in the Cyrus Cemetery at the base of Roy Cyrus's Cedar)

Cyrus Cemetery

On this site in 1905 Joseph Morgan (Joe) and Sarah Hayes Cyrus completed the sorrowful task of choosing a place to bury their infant son Johnny. From here they had a peaceful view of their beloved Smokey Valley and surrounding hills. Thus began this Cyrus Cemetery.

Another son, Roy, called Little Roy, three years old at that time, planted a cedar sprout near the head of the grave sometime thereafter. Although it soon appeared frail and unlikely to survive, the cedar took root and had grown to Roy's height when he died of illness in 1909. With agonizing grief, Little Roy was laid to rest beside the baby brother he had mourned with his tender heart and near the tree he had planted with his little hands.

From 1936 forward, the tree, in fullness of growth and beauty, became increasingly treasured as a historic reminder and a comforting shade for family reunion gatherings held annually on national Memorial Day.

The deceased are buried here in the unity by which they lived, trusting God to unite them throughout eternity.

The following Allison family was originally located on the farm of John Allison. The farm was located on Lick Creek on a point above Highway 644, about 250 feet above the road and was part of the Baptist Orphanage Property. Other interesting facts are: John H. Allison was a clerk at the Lawrence County Courthouse, Nov. 4, 1857. The Allison family is listed in the 1850 Lawrence County Census as follows:

Allison, John H. 54 farmer RE 1200; Mary J. 40 b. Va.; Emly 20; Adelaide B. 17 b. Va. (m. John M. Claton 3-20-1852 Law. Co.); Mary J. 14; James L. 12; Daniel J. 10; Louisa 8; Anna 6; Josephine 3; Richard A. 1; Robert C. 1.

The Allison Family Cemetery was listed 9-24-1982 by Laban E. Wallace, Jr.
