INTRODUCTION

The Virginia government first established Kentucky as a county of Virginia. By 1780, the Virginia Assembly subdivided Kentucky County into three counties—Lincoln, Fayette and Jefferson. Statehood came to Kentucky on June 1, 1792, when it became the 15th state of the Union. Isaac Shelby, a Revolutionary War hero, was the first governor. The Commonwealth government was organized in Lexington and was moved to Frankfort the following year.

Kentucky, the oldest state west of the Allegheny Mountains, is often referred to as the Daughter of the East and Mother of the West, and also the link that binds the North and South.

Colonists in Maryland, Pennsylvania and Virginia, Kentucky, was simply "the land beyond the mountains." It was rumored to be a rich and fertile place, cut through by many rivers and streams, and abundant with game tracked by Indian hunters from many tribes. "Kah-ten-tah-teh," the Wyandot Indian word for "the land of tomorrow."

A detailed black and white illustration of a horse-drawn hearse. The carriage is large and ornate, featuring a dark canopy with decorative tassels hanging over the front. It has four large, spoked wheels. The back of the carriage is open, showing a simple wooden structure. The front is pulled by a single horse, which is partially visible on the left. The entire scene is enclosed within a thin black rectangular border.

DEDICATION

Lawrence County Cemeteries, Volume 2, is dedicated in memory of all deceased Regents and members of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Louisa Chapter 4-056 KY of Lawrence County, Kentucky. This includes all the ladies who have given their time and devotion to the basic object of the society:

To perpetuate the memory and spirit of the men and women who achieved American Independence, by the acquisition and protection of historical spots, and the erection of monuments, by the encouragement of historical research in relation to the Revolution and the publication of its results; by the preservation of documents and relics, and of the records of the individual service of the Revolutionary soldiers, and patriots, and be the promotion of celebration of all patriotic anniversaries.

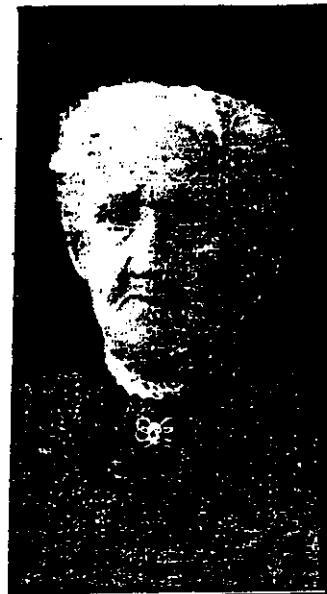

To carry out the injunction of Washington in his farewell address to the American people, "To promote, as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge," thus developing an enlightened public opinion, and affording to young and old such advantages as shall develop in them the largest capacity for performing the duties of American citizens.

To cherish, maintain, and extend the institutions of American freedom, to foster true patriotism and love of country, and to aid in securing for mankind all the blessings of liberty.

HISTORY OF THE LOUISA CHAPTER 4-056 KY

The Louisa Chapter of the DAR was organized on October 30, 1942 by Effie Fraley McGuire. Mrs. John J. Jordan, Jr. (Alva Snyder) served as Historian. The new chapter had sixteen organizing members: Genoa Wilson Britton (Mrs. Charles Tyler), Mary Stovall Chaffin (Mrs. Hubert M.), Nancy Burgess Cheek (Mrs. William A.), Elizabeth Kephart Curtright (Mrs. Henry H.), Elizabeth Ann Burgess Elswick (Mrs. Kit Carson), Louise See Henderson ((Mrs. Sherman Deward), Jennie Elizabeth Burgess Hughes (Mrs. Arthur Marcum), Alva Snyder Jordan (Mrs. John J.), Ellen McClure Hughes (Mrs. James Quinn), Lyda Preston Lewis (Mrs. George R.), Bessie Snyder McClure (Mrs. Archie Condit), Effie M. Fraley McGuire (Mrs. James N.), Margaret Lou Chaffin McNabb (Mrs. John W.), Julia Snyder Vanhoose (Mrs. Herschel P.), and Jo Chambers Wooten (Mrs. Charles R.).

MRS. LOUISA WARD
AT THE AGE OF 86

The Louisa Chapter was named for the City of Louisa, Kentucky.

Historians have called Louisa the seat of Lawrence County, Kentucky, and which was named for Louisa Ward, the first white child born on the town site, known as "the Gem of the Mountains". for its beautifully situated view. At Louisa the first attempt to settle in the Big Sandy Valley was made by the erection of two forts in 1787, by Charles Vancouver and others.

Louisa was laid out as a town in 1821. Joseph Russell Ward and his wife, Adaline Bragg Lewis Ward came to the area from Virginia and settled in Lawrence County. He was appointed to select a site for the seat of the new county and he and the other commissioners selected the present site of Louisa.

On February 15, 1823, the new clerk was late returning from his noonday meal. He explained that a new baby girl had come to his home. One of the commissioners asked the baby's name, the father said, "Louisa". They decided then to name the new town site, Louisa.

Louisa Ward lived in Louisa till she was thirteen and moved with her parents to Carter County, Kentucky. She died in Ashland, Boyd County, Kentucky, April 27, 1913, age 91. Her Revolutionary ancestor was Captain Thomas Bragg, born 1718, died 1808.

Message from the Authors

In the collection of this data we did research as to ascertain facts or take the data as it appeared in the cemetery. All graves were copied as viewed, as carefully as possible in the field. Many times dates and names were gone or hard to read. Care was taken not to damage stones or remaining information.

This at times is a very difficult project. Especially when it is very cold or very hot or you have to go through a thicket of briars. Or when you fall down a hill just as you were getting to the top. A few close calls on a rock cliff makes you really appreciate a few barking dogs. "We collected that cemetery!" we can say when its over.

We welcome any corrections or additions to our ongoing project. As Daughters of the American Revolution, we want this Historical Preservation project to benefit family members and researchers alike. We believe in preserving our past for our future.

CEMETERIES

"Cemetery Preservation is one of the most pressing needs in Eastern Kentucky. There are numerous cemeteries overgrown with vines, briars, trees, and wild roses that dot the bottoms and hillsides of southern Appalachia. Many have been lost or abandoned.

Memorial Day (Decoration Day) was once a time when families visited cemeteries and memorial services were held for the departed loved ones. Benches, pulpits, and outhouses were built on cemeteries for the occasion. The pulpit was usually built under a tall, shady tree so the ministers could deliver their sermons in comfort. Hoes were brought along to shave the weeds and fresh soil was mounded over the graves to replace the dirt that had settled since the previous year. Fresh flowers were picked and placed on the graves; daisies and black-eyed susans grew in the fields, roses and other flowers grew in yards and beside the roads. There was always an older member of the family who could tell everyone who was buried in the graves and what relation they were to them. Old-timers seemed to think it would always be that way. When the services and work were finished, they would return home for a large dinner prepared for the family (usually chicken and dumpling). If they were cleaning a number of cemeteries on a branch, some would take their dinner with them in a sled (if they could afford a mule) with enough for everyone who was helping them. There were large crowds and everyone laughed, talked, and seemed to enjoy themselves.

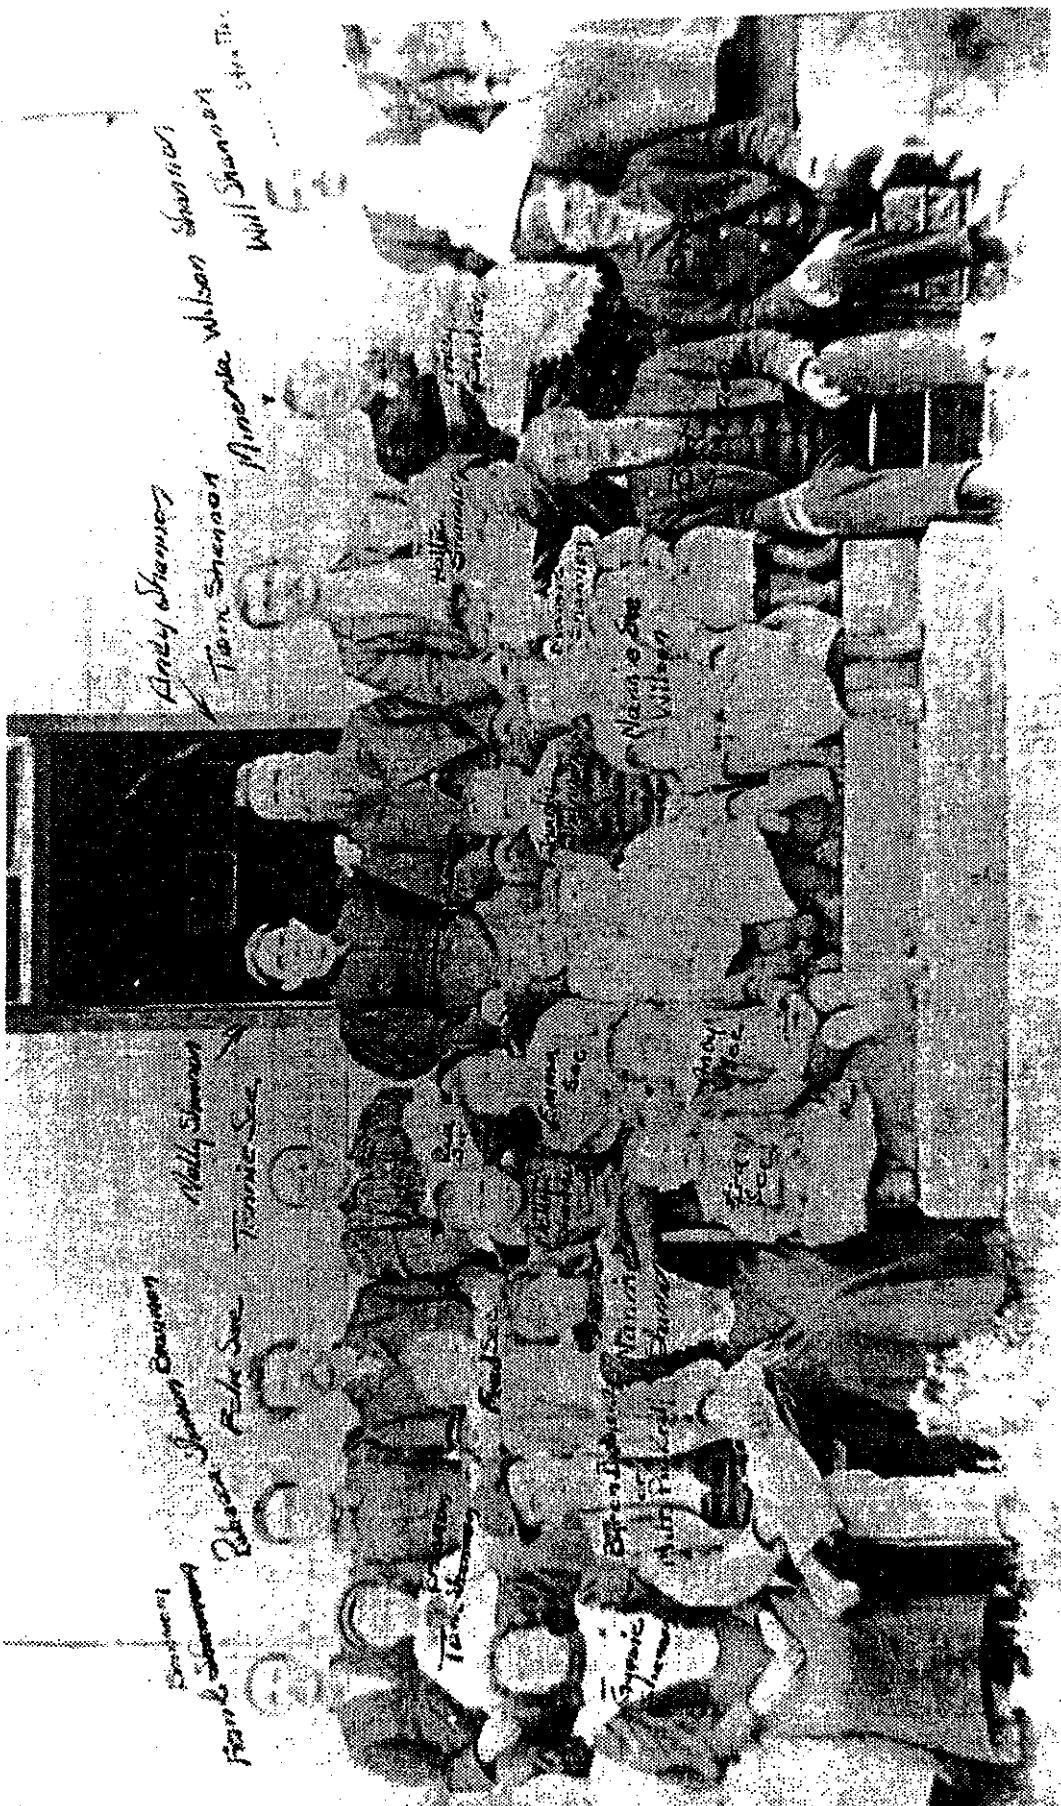

In the late 1950's and early 1960's, these practices were almost completely abandoned by the younger generation. Cemeteries started to become overgrown and the identity of the individuals in the unmarked graves was forgotten. It wasn't the lack of time that caused the change, but a lack of concern and a breakdown of community and family ties. In the past, relatives and neighbors were expected to help clean the cemeteries and old-timers were often quick to point out "At least I done something and you didn't" if something was said. There were always exceptions to the rules; individuals who were too lazy or too disinterested to maintain cemeteries where their parents, wives, and children were buried, but they were looked down upon by the community. And sometimes the property owner refused to let the cemetery be cleaned or fenced.

Fortunately, there are a few individuals who are willing to maintain the older cemeteries, but most set untouched and unprotected in the hills of Eastern Kentucky. And the graves are seldom if ever visited."

OLD FLOYD CO., KY FAMILIES, Cornelius Carroll, Editor
"Cemetery Preservation", page 26, Vol. 1, No. 4, Summer 1996

Intentionally desecrating any grave is a misdemeanor, or a felony if any remains are taken and sold for profit, as has happened with some Indian remains.

DAR members are currently recording and printing cemetery books in volumes, documenting the locations, and persons buried in Lawrence County cemeteries as part of Lawrence County Historical Preservation. The Louisa Chapter DAR 4-056 KY, feels this is a very worthwhile project. We applaud the publication entitled "Old Floyd Co., Ky. Families".

PECK CEMETERY

Located at Chapman, Ky. Take State Route 1690 to State Route 2037, turn right. Go 2 miles Cemetery is on right.

Joseph Peck was born 1 Dec 1785 on Sinking Creek in Botetourt County, Va., to Benjamin and Margaret Carper Peck. He married 4 Mar 1810, Elizabeth Chapman born 31 Mar 1791 d/o George and Patience Clay Chapman. George Chapman was a son of John Chapman, a Lieutenant in the American Revolution. Patience Clay's father, Mitchell was also in the Battle of Point Pleasant. Mitchell Clay was a direct descendant of Sir John Clay. The descendants of Benjamin Peck, John Chapman and Mitchell Clay are eligible to join the Sons or Daughters of the American Revolution. Many of the descendants of these brave men are buried in this Cemetery, the first being the granddaughter of Joseph Peck.

PATIENCE CLAY CHAPMAN

Patience Clay Chapman was buried at the base of the old Beech tree overlooking the fields called Round Bottom. It was here she and her husband, George Chapman, son of John and Sally Abbott Chapman, settled. Patience, born 1772, was the daughter of William and Phoebe Belcher Clay of Virginia.

"The Clays of Virginia and Kentucky, the descendants of their English ancestry by that name, emigrated to America and settled in Virginia prior to the American Revolution. One brother, the grandfather of Henry Clay of Kentucky, a Baptist minister, settled in the Slashes of Hanover (County); . . . The one who settled in Franklin County was the ancestor of the elder Mitchell Clay, who came from Franklin to Clover Bottom on the Bluestone, in 1775."

--- History of Middle New River Settlements, by David E. Johnston

Patience Clay married George Chapman, May 3, 1789. In 1813, he took his family to the Big Sandy Valley, in Kentucky. At this time his family consisted of three boys, Isaac, David and George, and a daughter, Lucretia. His elder two daughters, Elizabeth and Sally were married and living in Giles County. His oldest son, Archibald, was married and had a son, Isaac, about a year old. Archibald and his family accompanied his father to the Big Sandy Valley.

George Chapman and his son-in-law, Joseph Peck, purchased a 1000 acre tract of land in the Big Sandy Valley, about seven miles above the forks of the river, which was to be their permanent homes. George made a trip back to Giles County, Virginia, in 1816, to settle up the estate he left behind, but before he had finished his business he became ill and died, in Giles County, leaving a will. Patience continued to live on the family property at Round Bottom until her death in 1844.

--- Genealogy of Joseph Peck and Some Related Families,
by George Braden Roberts

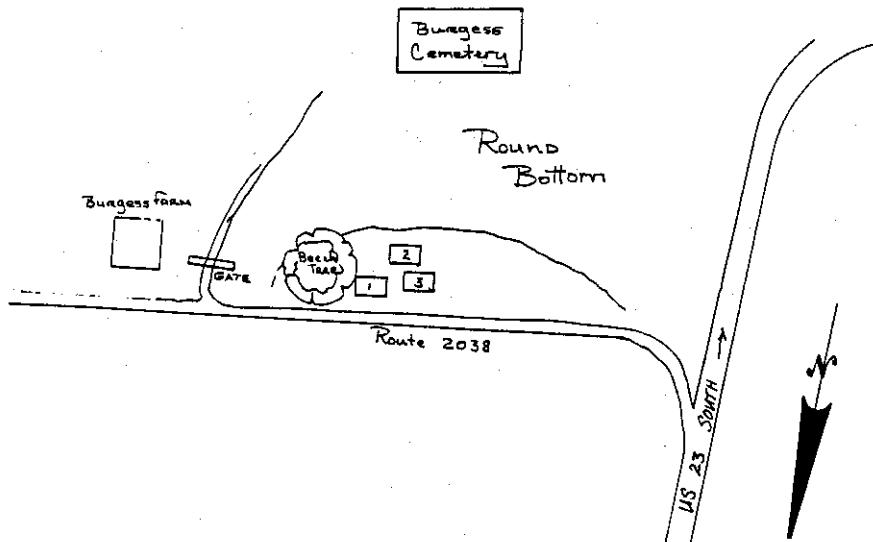

In the early 1800s, willow trees began appearing as a symbol on the headstones. These represented earthly sorrow and mourning.

GREENLAWN WEST

This Cemetery was recorded by facing the Cemetery entrance. Starting on the left side and moving forward, finishing on the right side. It is broken into four sections, so a grave can be more easily located. All graves are copied as they appear. This list is as complete as possible up to February 1996.

THE GARRED FAMILY

The Garreds of Kentucky early history, are the same family of people as the Jarretts of Old Virginia. The change in the spelling of the name came about by accident and through a mistake. The submission to the change in the spelling seemed to our grandfathers to be the simplest way out, even though it has provoked a lot of misunderstandings and helped to confuse the task of writing genealogies of the families. Now here is how it happened.

Before David Garred died he selected a burial site on his farm. This was on a point high above the river bottoms of the Big Sandy River in Lawrence County, Kentucky, and immediately above his home. Here on this plot of ground he gave directions for the construction of a stone vault above the ground, the first one of stone in the Big Sandy Valley and probably in the state. After completion, it could be seen for about two miles up or down stream, and many steam boat captains used it as a land mark in the early steam boat days of Big Sandy River traffic.

It was cut from native stone located in the bend of the river about one half mile down stream. The pieces of cut dressed stone were transported across a large creek and to the bottom of the point of the hill, and then up a steep precipice to the site overlooking the area. This undoubtedly was a difficult task, for the roof stones were cut in about four foot wide sections, with each section forming one piece from eaves to ridge of roof and across to the other eaves. These blocks of stone were about five inches thick, and were all put together except the entrance facing the east. This entrance was accomplished by a large piece of Vermont marble, the size of which would permit the entrance of two caskets. This piece of marble was very difficult to secure. It had to be cut and engraved and shipped to Kentucky. A very slow, time consuming operation, by boat up the Mississippi from New Orleans, then by push boat up the Big Sandy, and then by ox team. Here is where the name changed to Garred. When this stone arrived, the engraver carved Garred instead of Jarrett. It was then decided that the marble slab could not be re-engraved or corrected, and the delay in securing another would be so great, that it would be left Garred. I have never found any papers where this David Garred ever spelled his name other than Jarrett. He recorded all of his children in the family Bible as Jarrett. His son Ulysses and David W., signed their names as Garred, and thus the beginning of this spelling of the name of the two families of Jarretts in Kentucky.
