All listings that do not have a death date, may not have had a final date cut in the stone or the person may be living.

A lot of people are now making pre-arrangements including a stone erected

To Our Readers

Please accept this work as a collection of information. The cemetery information was recorded by walking through the cemetery and recording the information that was on the stones including all odd or "misspelled" names. We have added annotations received from relatives, funeral records and from the gravestones. Because we are human, we will make mistakes. We apologize for any mistakes and would appreciate any corrections or additions.

Dedication

We would like to dedicate this volume of the "Lawrence County, Kentucky Cemeteries" Volume 4, to a very special person, Lennie M. Carter. This is a man who for the past years has devoted his time, effort and passion to the preservation of family and family history of Lawrence County, Kentucky.

Lennie M. Carter was born in Kingston, Ohio to the parents of Lennie and Dora (Spillman) Carter, Sr. Lennie attended Ohio University and received a bachelor's of science degree in 1975 from Ohio State University. He received his master's degree from Johns Hopkins University and is the Personnel Administrator with The School of Public Health, one of the eight schools of Johns Hopkins University.

Mr. Carter's roots to Lawrence County are very deep. His parents were born, raised, and married here. His grandparents, George and Livenia Kitchen Carter and Covie Samuel Wert and Stella Mae Diamond Spillman were all born, married and raised in Lawrence County. He has many, many cousins, and distant relations still living in Lawrence Co. These are ties that bind and forever link many lives together over many decades. This is the family binding that has produced a selfless devotion to family genealogy and preservation of that history. In a statement from his book "The Spillman Family of Lawrence Co." he states: "I began researching the family history about five years ago (about 1982) when a distant cousin showed me her family tree at a family reunion. Another cousin sent me a package of research material which had been conducted on one of our joint lines. I found the information fascinating, and began researching my family history". He was hooked.

It is this fascination with genealogy that we, the authors of this Volume, and the Louisa, Kentucky Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, wish to dedicate this volume of the "Lawrence County, Kentucky Cemeteries" to Lennie M. Carter, for his research and tireless efforts in preserving the history of Lawrence County through the many published works, of which we could not do without.

The appreciation for his efforts is found everywhere, but, mostly it can be found in the Public Library, at tables with patrons bent over his books, reading, researching and enjoying his many efforts and treasures he has given the people of Lawrence County.

Thank You Very Much Lennie !!!

Books published by Lennie M. Carter are:

- The Spillman Family of Lawrence Co., Ky, (1987)
- The Kitchen Family, The Genealogy of James Kitchen from Greenbrier County, West Virginia, to Carter and Lawrence Counties, Kentucky, (1989)
- The Carter Family, The Genealogy and Family History of the Virginia Carters and their Migration to Lawrence County, Kentucky, (1992)
- The Cooksey and Jobe Families of Lawrence County, Kentucky, (1996)

Message from the Authors

We are very glad that we can be of help to so many people. We have received phone calls, letters and cards telling us how much people have enjoyed the cemetery books. Our goal is to help people complete their research, and find their ancestors and preserve information.

In fifty years, many of our ancestors may be lost to time and weather. However if these cemeteries are recorded and in print, this will be a method of preserving information.

Again, we thank the community and so many people for their support and help. We will continue this project as long as we can find cemeteries in Lawrence County, Kentucky.

Thank You

- Bleeding heart - sorrow
- Book & lamp - education
- Butterfly - freedom
- Daisy - innocence
- Dove - peace
- Halo - divinity
- Interlocking rings - marriage
- Iris - eloquence, protection
- Lamb - innocence, children
- Oak - strength
- Palm - victory, eternal peace
- Rose - beauty, love & wisdom
- Scales of Justice - law
- Thistle - independence, popular with people of Scottish descent.

Yatesville Memorial Gardens

Founded 1978

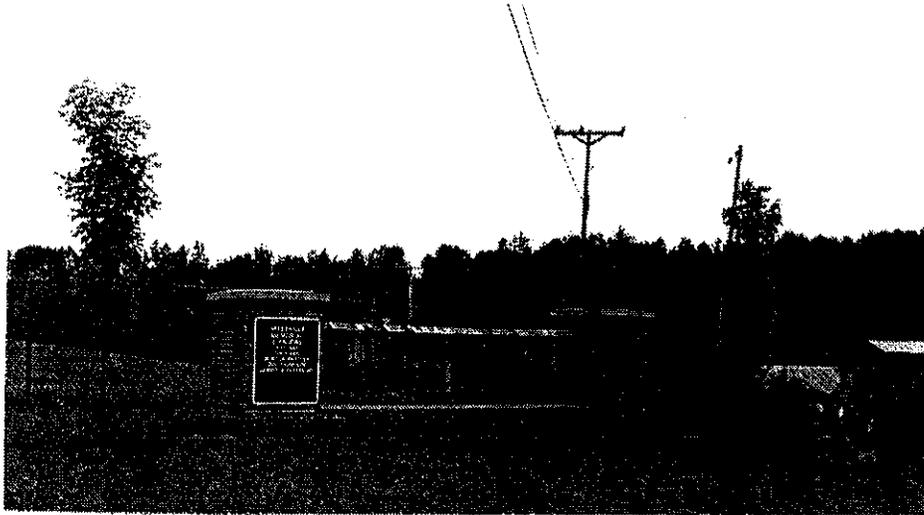

Located on Rt. 32, south of Louisa, Kentucky, about 5 miles on the right.

The following listing starts on the left of the entrance gates and proceeds around to the right ending on the right of the gates forming a large U. The cemetery is arranged in a series of groups. Each group is formed from a Cemetery or part of a cemetery that has been removed from the Yatesville Dam Project Site by the Army Corp of Engineers. This removal was a necessary part of the project. Each grave was removed to the Yatesville Memorial Gardens unless family members of the deceased choose otherwise (See section on the original maps). The following listing contains the name of the person, the number of the old cemetery and grave number, the new lot number and section number, the birth and death dates and annotations where possible. All correspond to the map on the foldout and following the cemetery listing is the original Army Corp of Engineer's maps of the original sites. We have included a discription of the original site and directions. Not all graves were removed to Yatesville Memorial Gardens, again see the section on the original maps and locations.

THE BOLT FAMILY

Four brothers, Isaac, James, Charles, and John Bolt, sailed from England to America in the early 1800's. Only two of the brothers stayed. Isaac Bolt settled at the mouth of Bolts fork (which was named for him) in a rather secluded spot, since on none lived within ten miles of him. Isaac married Elizabeth Booten on May 27, 1813.

Isaac Bolt was born in the year of 1789, and died of what probably would be called cancer today. His wife Elizabeth Booten, was born October 22, 1794 and died on November 18, 1884, also of cancer.

Isaac and Elizabeth were buried in the Bolt Cemetery close to the Boyd County line in Lawrence County, Kentucky. They had five children: Greenville, the oldest of the children. He was born July 8, 1814. Greenville married Mary Elizabeth (Polly) Davis. Greenville Bolt was sick for thirty years and most of his time in one room. Montraville Bolt was born on December 4, 1816 and died November 14, 1899. He married Patience Clay Bolt, who was born February 4, 1815 and died September 27, 1869. Alfred Bolt was born on July 18, 1824 and died January 9, 1897. He married Sarah (Sally) Dempsey. She was born July 25, 1813 and died July 5, 1904. John Bolt married Emarine Cecil. Olevia Bolt married George Prichard. All of Isaac and Elizabeth Booten Bolt's children are buried in the Bolt Cemetery, except Olevia Bolt Prichard. She is probably buried either at Denton or Hitchins.
